HIGH-SPEED DIALUP SERVICE ALLOWS FOR MORE NEEDS TO BE MET IN THE NORTHERN LOUISIANA INTERNET MARKET

Monroe, La.— Bayou Internet, the largest independent Internet and Communications Service Provider in Northern Louisiana, now offers Dialup Accelerator, a high-speed dialup service, which is up to six times faster than regular dialup. Responding to this market need for price competitive Internet options and expanding its portfolio of services reinforces Bayou's commitment to excellence and dedication to customers.

The new high-speed service streamlines Web and email downloads with scalability and reliability, resulting in less waiting time online at a low cost. "Until now, many consumers have been hesitant to make the price jump from dialup to DSL," says Jerry Scroggin, co-owner of Bayou Internet. "With Dialup Accelerator, those customers can take smaller steps to ultimately reach the highest speeds available."

This new offering is one more in a line of new services Bayou has unveiled so far in 2004. A new, stronger spam filter for email content as well as a live support button, available on Bayou's Web site, have also been added to the product portfolio. Scroggin explains, "Our customer's, both current and prospective, have more options than ever before to meet their specific technology needs. Bayou Internet is familiar with and sensitive to the needs and preferences of our fellow Northern Louisiana residents."
