What should I be watching out for when registering my domain name?

It is essential to make sure that YOU are in fact the owner of that domain name. A few cases have been reported of 3rd parties registering domain names in their own name rather than in the owners' name, to essentially "trap" the business owner so that they are unable to make changes. A registrar is the single organization that co-ordinates the domain registrations for a given top level domain (e.g. .com, .net, or .org).
